

Vacancy: Intern Artistic Programme LOV2030

About LOV2030

LOV2030 is the project through which the city of Leuven and the East Brabant region will serve as European Capital of Culture in 2030. LOV2030 brings together people, organisations and ideas to reflect on the future of the entire region. We believe that art and culture, drawing on the power of imagination, can contribute to a new vision of the future centred on a just and sustainable way of living together.

Together with cultural, social and academic partners, we are developing an ambitious and inclusive programme that connects art and society. To further develop the artistic programme, we are looking for an intern who is keen to contribute ideas, organise and create.

What will you do?

- Support the preparation and follow-up of artistic projects and collaborations.
- Research inspiring (inter)national practices and artists relevant to LOV2030.
- Assist with the organisation of meetings, presentations, and working sessions with artists and partners.
- Contribute substantively during meetings and brainstorming sessions, helping to shape the programme.
- Help develop presentations (e.g. PowerPoint) and translate content into clear visual formats.

Who are we looking for?

- You have a strong interest in art and culture, and in how these relate to social themes.
- You are self-directed, but also enjoy working as part of a team.
- You are well organised and comfortable working with digital tools (such as Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Miro).
- You are creative, curious, and eager to learn.

What do we offer?

- A unique opportunity to gain experience within a large-scale cultural project with international reach.
- Close collaboration with a small, driven team as well as a wide range of artists and (international) partners.
- Room for your own initiative and ideas.
- An internship based in Leuven, with the possibility of hybrid working.
